

Review of: "Crossing between Conceptual Metaphor Theory and Text World Theory"

Bingzhuan Peng<sup>1</sup>

<sup>1</sup> Harbin University of Science and Technology

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

It's a very interesting topic, and sheds light to discourse analysis. It can also broaden the theory of CMT. However, some revisions need making.

In Abstract, the full names of "TW and DW" should be presented since they appear for the first time.

In Abstract, the findings should be clearly stated.

Some terms need clarifying, such as, "the CENTER-PERIPHERY image schema".

The limitation of this research and future research should be included in the Conclusion.

I recommend more recent literature works be added in this paper.

Also, there are some language and grammatical issues.