Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Point 1: This paper has its value in literature, addresses a very important topic and is well built. However, in my opinion, I have a few comments that I suggest the authors consider to improve this article.

Point 2: The Introduction needs to better present the problem, too shortly describe the methodology and to stress some (expected) results.

Point 3: The results should be presented in a more reader friendly, since the author(s) use(s) insufficient detail to comment results. In addition, results need to be more related with the results of previous works.

Point 4: Conclusions should be further supported by the results presented in the paper and those referenced in the literature.

Point 5: To sum up, the paper is interesting.
