

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Splicing

National Cancer Institute (NCI)

Source

National Cancer Institute (NCI). Splicing.

The process by which introns, the noncoding regions of genes, are excised out of the primary messenger RNA transcript, and the exons (i.e., coding regions) are joined together to generate mature messenger RNA. The latter serves as the template for synthesis of a specific protein.