The topic of this article is interesting. The findings of the article are valuable. But I still have several questions as follows:

1. Why did the paper explore the POS of the Haat bazaar in Delhi without considering other places? The author himself also mentioned that crime can occur anywhere, whether in buildings or open spaces.
2. The literature review section still needs improvement, as simply listing the literature is difficult to identify research gaps.
3. It is necessary to supplement some quantitative analysis or presented in tabular form appropriately, in order to allow readers to have a clearer understanding of certain research results.
