It is interesting that the results of the research that you have written down. In order to improve the results of this research, there are several things that might be considered, namely, that the Abstract is too long and not straightforward enough. Another thing is that references should not be required in the abstract. Likewise, the conclusions conveyed should be directly connected to the problem formulation that has been written.

The next step is to strengthen the discussion by including the latest studies (the last 10 years would be better), with the composition of the main references on the subject matter dominating the list of selected references.

Thank you for sharing your research; hopefully, it can be a good example for the development of education with a massive impact.
