Thank you for the opportunity to review the paper titled "A Review of Transformation and Digital Literacy for Sustainable Development in the Greater Mekong Subregion - Working Paper."

The urgency of conducting the research is not clear, and there is a lack of supporting data. Additionally, the research methods used are unclear. The paper appears to be more of an introduction rather than a complete research study.

If this paper is intended to be a scientific research study, many essential components of research are missing, such as methodology, analysis, results, discussion, conclusion, limitations, and areas for further research.

The author should restructure the presentation of the scientific study and complete the missing sections to make it a more comprehensive and coherent research paper.
