

Open Peer Review on Qeios

Intermediate maple syrup urine disease

INSERM

Source

INSERM. (1999). Orphanet: an online rare disease and orphan drug data base.

Intermediate maple syrup urine disease. ORPHA:268162

Intermediate maple syrup urine disease (intermediate MSUD) is a milder form of MSUD (see this term) characterized by persistently raised branched-chain amino acids (BCAAs) and ketoacids, but fewer or no acute episodes of decompensation.