This subject is both intriguing and pertinent to the current state of the nation. The outcomes derived from this paper hold the potential to shape policies aimed at enhancing the economic conditions of the nation.

Below are some suggestions for enhancing the quality of this paper.

In the introduction section, a clear justification for undertaking this literature review should be provided, emphasizing the significance of conducting such a review.

Ensure the adoption of a rigorous methodological approach in reviewing the relevant literature to enhance the paper's overall quality.

While the paper appears to lean more toward a conceptual framework than an analytical one, consider incorporating a more balanced approach to enrich the content.

The study relies heavily on internet web sources, with limited inclusion of peer-reviewed articles, which may impact the academic credibility of the paper. To bolster the robustness of the study, consider consulting peer-reviewed papers from reputable journals.

For a literature review paper, the inclusion of only 25 references in the reference list may suggest a lack of depth. This aspect can be improved by expanding the reference list with a more comprehensive and diverse range of reputable sources.

I hope this helps and all the best with your research.
