

Review of: "György Márkus 75% Mensch: On the occasion of the Publication of the English version of How is a Critical Economic Theory Possible?"

Krzysztof Brzechczyn¹

¹ Adam Mickiewicz University of Poznan

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

This piece of writing is very interesting presentation of history of the Budapest school and relations between their main figures and their fields of interests. It would be interesting to place Budapest school in wider comparative context: revisionist movement in Eastern Europe. Especially I would recommend the publication: POLISH PHILOSOPHICAL REVISIONISTS IN MARXISM | Marcin Bogusławski, Helder Mendes Baiao, Krzysztof Świrek, and Krzysztof Brzechczyn - Academia.edu or Władysław Bulira, "Teoria krytyczna szkoły budapeszteńskiej" (2018)