

Review of: "Empowering Future Workforces: Reframing Education to Develop Essential Skills for a Dynamic Labor Market"

Armando Frias

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

I appreciate the chance to read this article. It focuses on an actual and pertinent topic. The text has been well written.

I was unable to fully comprehend the article's purpose or intended contribution to knowledge.

The background literature is limited.

The article could be improved by including the professional's perspective and/or the trend of future work needs.

A different approach might also be possible based on the requirements of relevant specific business sectors.