

Review of: "[Perspective] The possibility of a silent methamphetamine catastrophe in Bangladesh"

Debapriya Mazumder¹

¹ Chittagong Veterinary and Animal Sciences University

Potential competing interests: No potential competing interests to declare.

Firstly, I would like to congratulate the author for concentrating on an interesting topic, especially in the context of Bangladesh. There are a few changes required, though, considering the publication of this article in this journal.

1. The article sheds light on the prevalence of methamphetamine in Bangladeshi youth, but it needs to reflect the etiology behind the increase in such drug abuse.
2. The article is short and in concise form. Nevertheless, the adverse impact of drug abuse on society needs to be acknowledged and discussed.
3. The article should discuss why the government and families are not being able to contain this drug abuse.
4. The author should discuss the ways in which the government can intervene in this.

That's all from me. I believe that, after proper correction, this article can be published in this respected journal. At the end, I would like to thank the author again for bringing out such an important matter to the world.