This research is interesting because it raises women's issues in entrepreneurship, especially in developing countries, and enriches existing research literature.

However, several things are of concern in this article.

- 1) This article does not clearly state the analytical tools and data analysis methods used
- 2) The type of research approach is also not visible in the explanation in the article
- 3) Literature reviews and previous research are also very minimal, so it is not easy to compare the results of this article with previous research in order to obtain good and comprehensive justification and be useful for practical recommendations and further research.
- 4) This article needs to deepen the literature to broaden insight into women's entrepreneurship. This issue is interesting, especially in developing countries like India, which need more entrepreneurs to improve the Indian economy.

This can increase understanding so that the article becomes even better.
